

T The New York Times Style Magazine

DESIGN & INTERIORS | FOOD | TRAVEL | FASHION & BEAUTY | ENTERTAINMENT | ART | VIDEO

Stephen Sondheim, Theater's Greatest Lyricist

Lin-Manuel Miranda speaks to the man who has consistently remade the American musical over his 60-year career — and who is trying to surprise us one more time.

By LIN-MANUEL MIRANDA OCT. 16, 2017

T | T Magazine Celebrates the Greats

After dinner, Lin-Manuel Miranda introduced singers from the Stagedoor Manor camp, many of whom appeared in a video homage to Stephen Sondheim, one of the Greats. The group sang a rousing rendition of some Sondheim hits — including “I’m Still Here” and “Broadway Baby.”

Adam Ferguson

Minaj stood in the front row and captured the performance on her phone.

T | T Magazine Celebrates the Greats

The singers came from all over the world to perform at the event.

Adam Ferguson

T | T Magazine Celebrates the Greats

After the show, Minaj posed for photographs with the children and gave them advice.

Adam Ferguson

Related: About Last Night: T Magazine Celebrates the Greats